

Information sheet for new entries

When you start your new job, you will be included in your new employer's pension plan. If you were also insured under the occupational pension scheme during your last employment relationship, you are generally entitled to a termination benefit. The transfer of the vested benefits to the new pension scheme should involve as little effort as possible for everyone involved. Please note the following information

At the start of your new employment relationship, your previous pension scheme must transfer the vested benefits to which you are entitled to the Swisscanto Flex Collective Foundation in favor of your new pension scheme. Therefore, please forward the following account information to the pension fund of your previous employer.

The Swisscanto Flex Collective Foundation will incorporate the vested benefits transferred into your new insurance.
